

Winter SOLSTICE

A young female dancer is captured in mid-air, performing a split leap. She is wearing a white long-sleeved leotard and black tights. Her arms are extended to the sides, and her hair is pulled back. The background is a solid blue, and white, snow-laden branches frame the top and sides of the image, creating a winter atmosphere.

Jill Solberg Performing Arts Theatre

Sunday, December 14th

5:00 pm

The Winter Solstice has long symbolized reflection, renewal, and the quiet beauty that winter brings. Our dancers have poured their artistry and dedication into each piece, illuminating the stage with warmth, hope, and the promise of brighter days ahead. We invite you to join us in honoring this timeless transition through movement, music, and story.

We extend our deepest gratitude to our dancers for their dedication and passion, and to our parents for their unwavering support throughout the season. Your commitment makes this performance possible.

As the light begins its return, we invite you to enjoy an evening filled with artistry, expression, and winter's gentle magic.

Enjoy the Show!
